

BERKSHIRE GARDEN TRUST'S AUTUMN LECTURE

FRIDAY 12TH OCTOBER 2018 at

Purley Barn, off Beech Road, Purley-on-Thames, Berkshire RG8 8DR

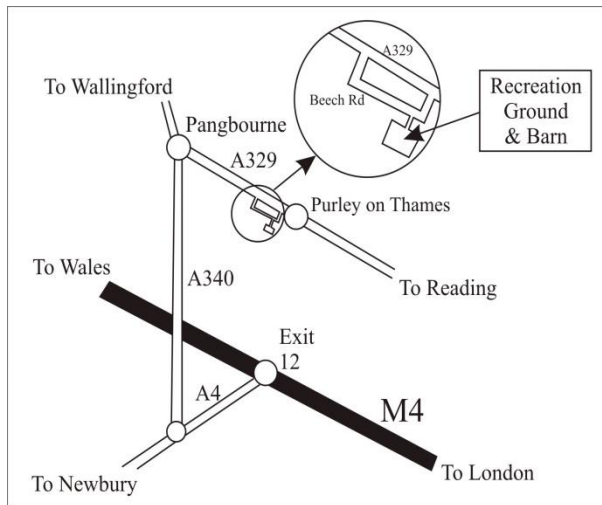

Following the formal AGM and light refreshments, our Autumn Lecture this year will be given by Simon Goodenough on Folly Farm entitled: "Folly Farm: A Restoration – Lutyens and Jekyll Reimagined". Simon is the Estate Manager for Folly Farm, which is on the Historic England's Register of Parks and Gardens Register and is an Associate of Honour RHS, a Member of the RHS's Tender Ornamental Committee and the Worshipful Company of Gardeners. Prior to arriving at Folly Farm, Simon has worked at the Royal Botanic Gardens at Kew, been curator of the colourful Ventnor Botanic Gardens, Isle of Wight, and has been on various plant hunting expeditions, with associated plant propagation and collecting credentials. He was also involved in setting up the first Gardens Trust on the Isle of Wight.
